

Public Housing Partnerships

Brian Alexander, Project Director

We know how to end homelessness.

Affordable Housing
Appropriate Services
Adequate Income

Communities struggle to find affordable housing

Low vacancy rates in communities

Programs have tenant-based rental assistance that goes unspent

Despite efforts, private landlords refuse to work with programs helping homeless people

PHAs offer the largest stock of affordable housing in the community and goes untapped

So where do we start?

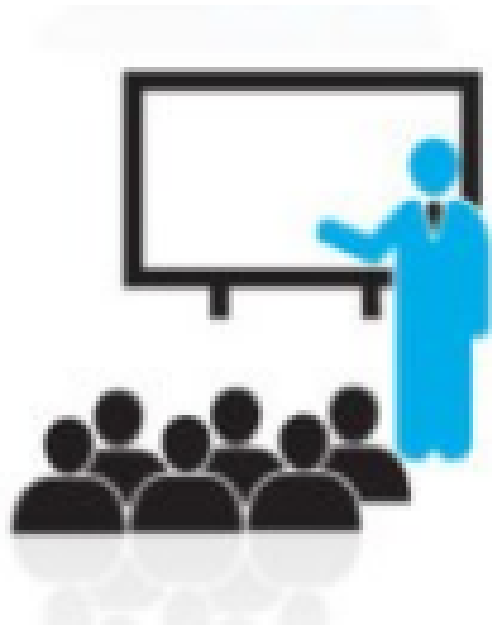

Create a relationship

So where do we start?

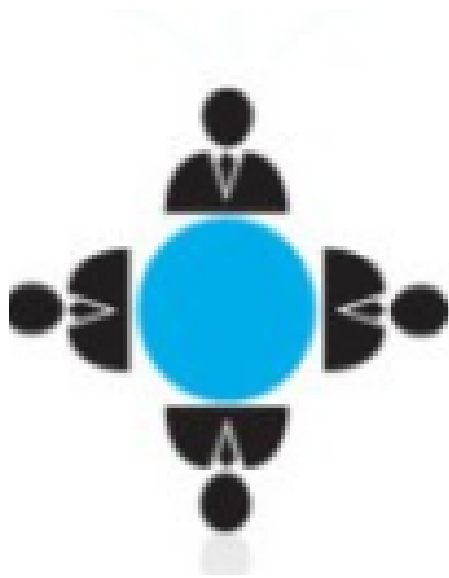

Discuss the mutual benefits

So where do we start?

Present the possibilities

So where do we start?

Invite the right stakeholders to be part of the process

So how do we get started?

Choose a path and get started

So how do we get started?

Evaluate frequently and change what's not working

Let us know how we can support your partnerships with the homeless system.
