

Moving On Strategies

Brian Alexander, Project Director

Moving On strategies require a shift in philosophy

We no longer have a choice. PSH projects have to change:

- Very little new $

- Chronic homeless households need housing

- The purpose of PSH has changed since its inception in many communities

Change can be tough! What causes you the most anxiety about making this shift in the purpose of PSH?

Moving On strategies help people experiencing homelessness and the community

Moving On strategies:

- Promote the highest level of independence and choice for tenants
- Empower and support people with disabilities to take steps forward in their recovery
- Increase capacity of homeless service systems

Moving On strategies help your community

Enhanced collaboration, sharing and making resources work together

Matching the intervention to the needs of participants

Better understanding of how far resources can go and what gaps exist

Moving On strategies help grantees

Improved relationships with providers and others

Programs have a greater impact

Ability to create new/stronger relationships

Easier to make match

Increased spending

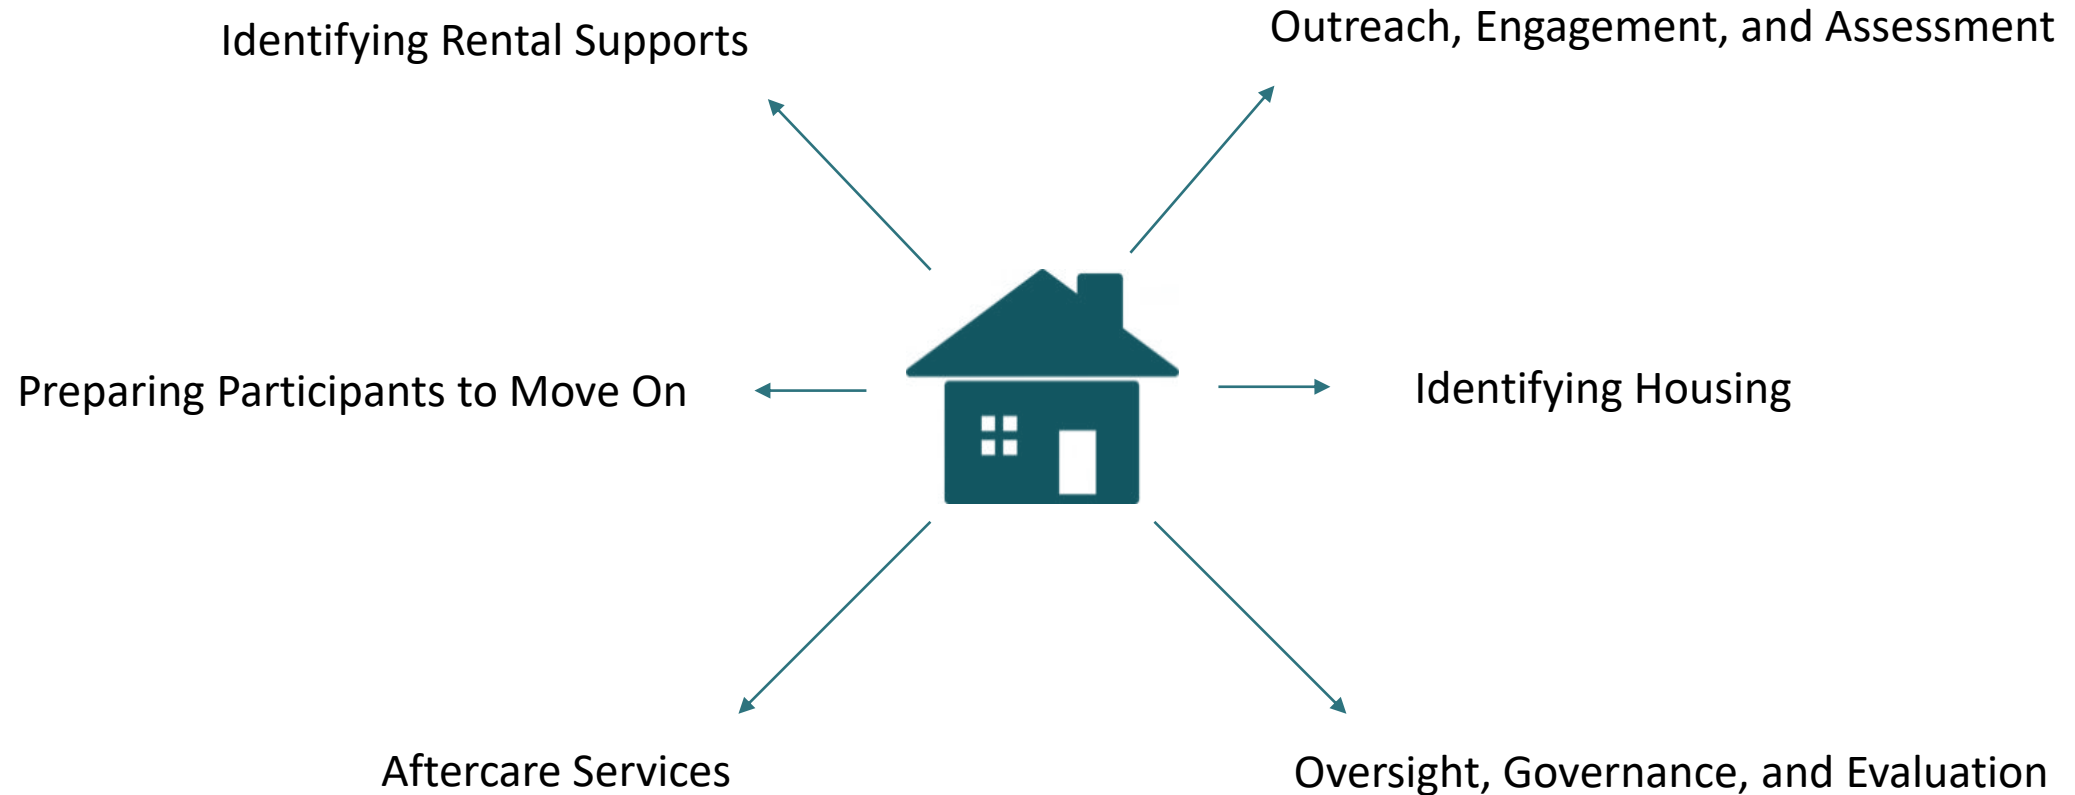

All Moving On strategies have three key principles

Voluntary

Maximizing Housing Options

Promoting Economic Mobility and Self Sufficiency

Developing a Moving On Strategy
